TIANJIN (BEIJING), CHINA

AN ASTONISHING IMPERIAL CITY

A vibrant metropolis, a bridge between the ages, the beating heart of a gigantic country, Beijing is an astonishing city in more ways than one.

With 3000 years of history, it is one of the oldest metropolises in the world. Three millennia that have seen the city's name change more often than not in line with the changes in the empire itself, since Beijing (literally the Northern Capital) is none other than its sixteenth patronymic after 'Nanjing' (Southern Capital), 'Zhongdu' (Central Capital), 'Dadu' (The Great Capital), 'Yanjing' (The Yan Capital) and 'Beiping' (Central Peace), among many others. Over the years, the city has been built concentrically around the Forbidden City.

A bit like the trunk of a tree, each 'development circle' is surrounded by a road and, like heaven, there are seven today, but the comparison ends there. The city's inhabitants use these circles to find their way around Beijing. "I live in the second ring" is a common phrase in Beijing.

It's also interesting to note that the city's influence on the whole country is also felt in the official language, Mandarin, which is very largely based on the Beijing dialect. There are of course some regional differences in vocabulary and grammar, but the Chinese spoken in Beijing is the one that influences the whole country, right down to the pronunciation of words. You've come to the right place to learn perfect Chinese.

Finally, a riddle: if you stop a Beijing resident in the street, how likely is it that their name will be Wang?

More than one in 10 people in the city are called Wang, 11% to be exact. In London, by comparison, Smiths account for just 0.47%...

SIGHTS

- 798 Art Zone
- Yuanmingyuan Park
- Huanghuacheng Great Wall
- National Museum of China
- Tiananmen
- Juyong Pass of Great Wall

HOUHAI LAKE SCENIC AREA

A grand sweep of willow-lined waterways enclosed by invitingly maze-like hutong lanes, this trio of lakes is one of Beijing's best-loved outdoor spots, whether for strolling, fishing, pedal boating, or ice skating in winter. After dark, live-music bars skirting the shores of Qianhai (Front Lake) and Houhai (Back Lake) blare into life. Xihai (West Lake) is more idyllic. Several worthwhile sights can be found here, notably Prince Gong's Mansion and Song Qingling's Former Residence.

HAND WASHING & HAND SANITIZING

Keeping hands clean through improved hand hygiene is one of the most important steps we can take to avoid getting sick and spreading germs to others. Many diseases and conditions are spread by not washing hands with soap and clean, running water. Alcohol-based hand sanitizers can quickly reduce the number of germs on hands.
