CAPE TOWN, SOUTH AFRICA

Also known as “Mother City”

In the Bo-Kaap neighborhood, the call to prayer echoes through cobbled streets lined with brightly painted houses, while the aroma of Malay curry fills the air. Flower sellers, newspaper hawkers, and lively markets keep street life buzzing, and lampposts advertise a steady stream of festivals and cultural events.

Yet what you'll ultimately remember about Cape Town is the grandeur of its setting. Table Mountain rises dramatically above the city, with rugged mountains tumbling into the sea and the shifting blues of the Atlantic and Indian Oceans completing the scene. Francis Drake's description of this as “the fairest Cape we saw in the whole circumference of the earth” still feels remarkably accurate today.

Often compared to San Francisco, Cape Town has two things the city by the Bay does not: Table Mountain and Africa. The mountain is central to the city's identity, looming overhead in a way that must be experienced firsthand. When afternoon clouds spill over its flat summit, the city below seems to pause in collective awe.

Beyond the urban core, pristine white-sand beaches, mountain trails, and outdoor pursuits—from surfing and paragliding to mountain biking—offer endless possibilities. Much of the land near Strand and Waterkant Streets was reclaimed from the sea, forming today's Foreshore, a reminder of how Cape Town has continually evolved alongside its extraordinary natural surroundings.

CUISINE AND SHOPPING

Cape Town's cuisine and shopping scene reflects the city's rich cultural diversity and creative spirit. Its food culture ranges from traditional Cape Malay dishes—such as fragrant curries, bobotie, and samoosas found in areas like Bo-Kaap—to fresh seafood, vibrant food markets, and world-class dining inspired by both African and international influences. Equally varied is the city's shopping experience, from the bustling V&A Waterfront, with its mix of international brands, local designers, and artisan markets, to lively streets like Kloof Street and neighborhood markets offering handcrafted jewelry, fashion, art, and unique South African souvenirs. Together, Cape Town's flavors and retail experiences offer an engaging way to explore the city's culture, creativity, and lifestyle.

Abavuki Ingoma Show is a powerful and immersive celebration of traditional African culture, bringing to life the rhythm, movement, and storytelling that have been passed down through generations.

The show is defined by its thundering drumbeats, which set the heartbeat of the performance. These rhythms guide the dancers as they execute high-energy footwork, precise formations, and powerful body movements, all performed with remarkable discipline and intensity. Each dance sequence tells a story—of strength, unity, celebration, and the connection between people and their ancestors. The performers' vibrant traditional attire, adorned with bold colors and cultural symbolism, enhances the visual impact and adds depth to the storytelling.

Keeping hands clean helps prevent illness and the spread of germs. Wash with soap and water when possible; alcohol-based sanitizers also reduce germs quickly. Please use the hand sanitizers at dining-area entrances and throughout the ship.

TIPS FOR STAYING SAFE

Currently, pickpockets and muggers tend to prey on tourists. Your safety is our main concern. Please exercise care when going ashore with wallets, handbags, sunglasses and camera equipment. Avoid highly visible jewellery, handbags or expensive-looking watches, sunglasses or camera equipment. Do not use large denominations when paying street vendors as this may attract unwanted attention. Do not accept food or drinks from strangers. Avoid walking around the port area, unaccompanied, especially after dark. Use licensed taxis and keep to the main streets when unsure of your surroundings.
